Ammer Blasts Rouse
Granted Without
Notice And Hearing

In a disclosure that may have statewide repercussions, Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer revealed Monday that the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Company has been granted an increase in long distance rates, within its system, without knowledge of the general public.

The increase is now in effect on long distance calls made inside Pickaway County, it was learned, but has yet to be generally noticed since customers have not received their bills for January service. The increase, which presumably dates back to Jan. 1, seemingly was granted without Consolidated asking for it.

Ed Jury, local manager here for Ohio Consolidated, confirmed Monday noon that the firm has increased rates on long distance calls in this area. However, he added: "I am not authorized at this time to issue any statement. Any such statement will have to come from our main offices."

BY A booby-trap tariff provision, which reportedly was unknown even to the present members of the State Public Utilities Commission, long distance rates for "practically all" of Ohio's independent phone companies were boosted simultaneously when an increase was recently granted the Ohio Bell Telephone Company. This was revealed in a bombshell letter sent by Chairman Robert L. Moulton of the PUCO to William B. (Bill) Johnson, mayor of Williamsport.

Ammer gave the Williamsport mayor full credit for uncovering what appeared to be a "quiet" rate hike affecting telephone patrons all over the state. After an exchange of letters with the PUCO, Johnson turned the matter over to the prosecutor.

Johnson became suspicious after discovering earlier this month that the toll rate had been raised between his community and Circleville.

In the absence of a formal statement by main offices of Ohio Consolidated, details of the increase affecting Pickaway County points were not yet available. It was believed the increase applies to long distance calls made over an airline distance greater than eight miles.

Among new long distance rates reported unofficially here were the following:

Circleville-Williamsport, 15 cents station-to-station and 40 cents person-to-person; Circleville-Laurelville, 20 cents station-to-station and 45 cents person-to-person; Circleville-Ashville, 35 cents person-to-person.

The Circleville-Ashville toll, station-to-station, apparently remains unchanged at 10 cents. All the above rates are plus tax.

MOULTON, in his letter to Johnson, explained the surprise procedure as follows:

"This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter of recent date relative to increased toll charges being levied by the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Company.

"The increased toll rates to which you refer became effective over lines of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co., and practically all other independent companies in Ohio, as a result of the increase granted by the commission on December 31, 1954, to the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

"The rates for long distance service for Ohio Bell having been (Continued on Page Two)

Ohio Desperado
Gets High 'Rank'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Keneth Darrel Carpenter, an Ohio desperado wanted for the $9,300 robbery of a Kansas bank, is now on the FBI's list of "10 most wanted men."

The FBI described Carpenter, 42, a native of Wyandot County, Ohio, as "a hardened, desperate criminal" habitually carrying arms. He has served time in a number of prisons, and was conditionally released from Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary just about a month before the robbery of the bank at Oswego, Kan., last Nov. 27.

Two men looted the Oswego bank in five minutes, and one of them, Leroy Adolph, was caught two weeks later at Webb City, Mo. He confessed, named Carpenter as his companion, and got a 15-year federal sentence.

Blizzard Of Bills Expected Tonight In Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS (AP)—With only nine legislative days left before bill introduction deadline, Ohio's general assemblymen return to their chores tonight. Another blizzard of bills is expected.

When they left the capitol last Thursday, 423 bills were in the hopper. Two years ago, they mustered 1,178 proposed laws before the boom fell, but in the 1953 session, the Senate observed no deadline on bill introduction. It will this year, the first time since 1939.

While legislators drive toward their Feb. 14 bill deadline, they will be hearing a relatively short list of 24 bills this week.

One of the top-interest hearings will be on a bill to create a special pension system for Ohio's judges — Supreme Court, appeals courts, common pleas, probate and municipal courts.

Judges now are eligible for pensions under the Public Employee Retirement System. All previous attempts to set up a special pension system for judges have failed.

THE NEWEST attempt to create the special system is sponsored by Sens. Raymond E. Hildebrand (R-Lucas) and John T. Corrigan (D-Cuyahoga). It proposes a pension of 25 per cent of a judge's salary after he has served 12 years and has reached the age of 60 or 55 if he is disabled. The top would be 40 per cent after 18 years' service.

The judges' pension system hearing is scheduled for tomorrow night before the Senate Civil Service and Retirement Committee.

Another bill which has attracted attention is up for hearing tonight. It is the measure providing penalties for telephone party line subscribers who refuse to yield use of a line in an emergency.

It is before the Senate Highways and Public Utilities Committee, which also will hold a second hearing the same night on a measure which would strip the Ohio Turnpike Commission of the final authority to issue bonds for the construction of further turnpikes.

The turnpike bill got a fairly cool reception at its first hearing when only the author, Sen. David McK. Ferguson (R-Guernsey) and two other men spoke in its favor.

Tomorrow night, the House Conservation Committee will hold its first hearing on a bill providing the revocation of hunting license for any person who, while hunting, kills a human or a domestic animal.

A second, and probably final, hearing is scheduled after the Senate session Wednesday on a bill to make mandatory the teaching of a number of basic subjects in Ohio's public schools. Before the committee takes any action on the bill, which has an exact counterpart before a House committee, it must decide on an amendment which would make the teaching of part of the list of subjects mandatory and part optional.

Sen. Mansfield Set To Follow Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today international affairs have reached the stage where members of Congress must "put our faith in President Eisenhower" to reach a settlement of world problems without war.

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he was "standing behind the President" on U. S. support of a United Nations effort to end hostilities between the Chinese Nationalists and Communists in the area of Formosa.

Although he said this move implies "the recognition of the existence of two Chinas," Mansfield said he is willing to follow Eisenhower's lead in the matter.

Soviet Proposal May Slow U.N. Truce Parley

Russia Again Labels
America As Trouble
Source In Orient

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Soviet Russia confronted the U. N. Security Council today with a demand that United States withdraw its armed forces immediately from the Formosa area and that Chiang Kai-shek surrender the coastal Chinese islands to the Communists.

The demand was continued as a cease-fire condition in a Soviet draft resolution circulated to delegations as the Council gathered to discuss how to halt hostilities in the Formosa Strait and how to prevent a major conflict from developing.

There was speculation here that Russia might spell out its demand for evacuation of all islands and "other territories belonging to China" to include Nationalist China's surrender not only of the Tachens, Matsu and Quemoy but of Formosa itself and the Pescadores Islands, which United States has pledged to protect.

A first order of business today saw the Security Council vote down by 10-1 a Russian demand that Nationalist China be barred from participation in the U. N. debate on Formosa.

The move was made by Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev who declared:

"The great Chinese people have their own state, the People's Republic of China, created by their own will. Only they are entitled to represent their people in the great arena of the United Nations. Instead the representative of a bankrupt group sits here."

The United States called the Soviet demand a propaganda move designed to confuse and divert serious efforts to halt the fighting, which included new Communist firebombing of the Tachens yesterday. More than four years ago the Security Council defeated an almost identical resolution.

A DISPUTE over including the Soviet resolution on the agenda under its title language of "U. S. Acts of Aggression Against the Chinese People's Republic in the Taiwan Formosa Area and Other Islands of China" threatened to delay the Council in its majority aim of getting off an invitation to Red China to send representatives here for the Formosa debate.

The U. N. Charter requires both sides in a dispute be invited to be represented. If Red China does send spokesmen, he will not have a vote.

Meanwhile, Peiping radio said again today the New Zealand proposal to discuss the situation of Formosa in the U. N. Security (Continued on Page Two)

Reds Quote FDR In New Peace Bid

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio today observed the 73rd anniversary of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's birth a day late. A commentator said the Soviet Union earnestly seeks the cooperation of the United States for "a stable and lasting peace" but declared that "cooperation has to be reciprocal."

In the birthday tribute, broadcast in English and beamed to North America, commentator Boris Timofeyev said:

"Roosevelt emphasized time and again that it was his deep conviction that the U. S. could arrive at a mutually suitable agreement with the U. S. S. R. in spite of the difference in social and political systems."

"It was only necessary that both parties show a real desire to cooperate for the sake of a stable and lasting peace."

"The U. S. S. R. has always earnestly sought this cooperation and today too this is the dominant aspect of its foreign policy."

"But it must be said—and President Roosevelt made a point of this—that if there is to be cooperation, all interested parties must strive for it."

U. S. Fleet Awaits Orders To Start Island Evacuation

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The combat-ready U. S. 7th Fleet needed only a "go ahead" today to evacuate the Communist-threatened Tachen Islands, already blasted by Red fire bombs.

However, Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the U. S. Pacific Fleet, said on a quick visit to this Chinese Nationalist capital yesterday that an evacuation had not been ordered.

Unconfirmed Chinese press reports said the garrison of 15,000 men was under Defense Ministry orders to prepare for a bitter stand if the Communists should attack before the evacuation takes place, as many observers here expect them to do.

Adm. Stump, meanwhile, was flying back to his Pearl Harbor headquarters after a quick trip to Taipei and an unheralded conference with top American commanders in Tokyo.

While here he told a news conference that "any time American forces are attacked anywhere they will defend themselves."

"I CAME HERE to see that my commanders have everything they need if the job is ordered. We have a plan to assist in the evacuation if it is ordered. It hasn't been ordered."

As the belief grew that orders might come this week, the English-language China News said all preparations for the redeployment of Nationalist forces on certain offshore islands had been completed.

This apparently referred to strengthening garrisons on such islands as Quemoy and Matsu, dominating the Red Chinese ports of Amoy and Poochow.

Reichelderfer Seeking Crites' Council Post

At least one contest in the May municipal primary was assured Monday with two candidates seeking the job of councilman from Circleville's third ward on the Democratic ticket.

The incumbent, George Crites, chairman of city council's powerful finance committee, filed early for re-election. And the Pickaway County Board of Elections announced Monday that he will be opposed for the Democratic nomination by Walden E. Reichelderfer, former councilman-at-large.

Meanwhile, time was running out for municipal candidates who want their names printed on the primary ballot and have yet to file their petitions. Deadline for filing is 4 p. m. Wednesday.

In addition to Crites, two other councilmen have announced they will seek re-election. Clarence Helvering and Boyd Horn, Democrats of the first and fourth wards respectively, have filed their papers.

LORING (JAGGY) DAVIS, Democrat, a political newcomer in the city hall picture, filed for the job of city treasurer after the incumbent, Everett Stocken, announced he would not run again.

While it was known the question is still being discussed behind the scenes, the Democrats have yet to come up with anyone to oppose Mayor Bob Hedges in November. And the mayor apparently will get the nomination on the GOP ticket without a contest.

Dulles Plans Visit With Burma Chief

RANGOON (AP)—Burmese Prime Minister U. Nu announced today that U. S. Secretary of State Dulles will visit Rangoon for talks with him after the SEATO conference next month in Bangkok.

Informed sources said Dulles is expected here about Feb. 26. U. Nu also said he asked Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to release the 11 American airmen imprisoned in Red China as spies on "purely humanitarian grounds."

He said he did not discuss the "merits or demerits of the case" with Chou. U. Nu said Chou in reply told him he would review the case "sympathetically."

Central America Tension Easing

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Tension between Costa Rica and Nicaragua appeared to be subsiding again today after a border clash between Costa Rican troops and rebel remnants raised the fear of more trouble with Nicaragua.

The general staff alerted all reservists after the clash Saturday but Col. Rodolfo Quiros, army chief of staff, said last night he believed the situation was calm.

Quiros said the government patrol killed 10 rebels, while seven government troops were unaccounted for and one was interned.

Council To Study City Pay Raises

Ordinance Would Hike Solicitor,
Auditor, Treasurer, Lawmakers

City Solicitor George Gerhardt said Monday that he has been instructed to draw up an ordinance which would provide pay increases for four branches of the municipal government.

Gerhardt said he was told to prepare the measure for Tuesday night's council meeting, but only as a blank form to be filled in with the figures later. He said the ordinance will be drawn to provide pay increases for the city solicitor, city auditor, city treasurer, president of council and councilmen.

There was no indication as yet as to what amount of increase is contemplated for the different departments.

Annual salaries of those covered by the measure are currently as follows:

Solicitor, $2,100; auditor, $2,400; treasurer, $500; president of council and councilmen, $300.

GERHARDT has declared he will not run again for the solicitor's post, chiefly because the salary "just isn't worth what you are expected to do." And he reiterated his stand in this respect Monday morning.

At council's last meeting, the lawmakers held to first reading a proposal whereby part of the work expected of the solicitor—criminal prosecutions in city court—would be Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer, serving part-time as assistant city solicitor. There were strong indications that council will agree to the arrangement, probably Tuesday night.

Ammer has warned he will not be a party to the setup if it becomes controversial.

He described himself as a straggler in the retreating Red army following the Allied Inchon landing in 1950.

Farm And Low Income Families Said Needing
Special Attention

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to help bolster and expand private health insurance plans.

Eisenhower proposed a federal reinsurance service through which private companies could share the risk of experimental and expanding plans to:

1. Extend health insurance to farm families.

2. Provide more protection against costs of prolonged illness.

3. Insure low income families against the costs of medical care in the home or physician's office as well as hospitals.

Eisenhower called it "a program which involves no government subsidy and no government competition with private insurance plans."

In another section of his message, he called for grants to the states to help them combat juvenile delinquency and asked for stepped up programs against smog and water pollution.

FURTHER, he asked increased aid for nurses training, authority to make grants for mental health projects, and a system of government mortgage insurance for private construction of clinics, hospitals, nursing homes and other health facilities.

Specifically, the President proposed a five-year program of grants to state vocational education agencies for training of practical nurses. His message did not give a dollar total.

Eisenhower told the lawmakers:

"Because the strength of our nation is in its people, their good health is a proper national concern; healthy Americans live more rewarding, more productive and happier lives. Fortunately, the nation continues its advance in bettering the health of all its people."

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Soviet Russia confronted the U.N. Security Council today with a demand that United States withdraw its armed forces immediately from the Formosa area and that Chiang Kai-shek surrender the coastal Chinese islands to the Communists.

The demand was continued as a cease-fire condition in a Soviet draft resolution circulated to delegations as the Council gathered to discuss how to halt hostilities in the Formosa Strait and how to prevent a major conflict from developing.

There was speculation here that Russia might spell out its demand for evacuation of all islands and "other territories belonging to China" to include Nationalist China's surrender not only of the Tachens, Matsu and Quemoy but of Formosa itself and the Pescadores Islands, which United States has pledged to protect.

A first order of business today saw the Security Council vote down by 10-1 a Russian demand that Nationalist China be barred from participation in the U. N. debate on Formosa.

The move was made by Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev who declared:

"The great Chinese people have their own state, the People's Republic of China, created by their own will. Only they are entitled to represent their people in the great arena of the United Nations. Instead the representative of a bankrupt group sits here."

The United States called the Soviet demand a propaganda move designed to confuse and divert serious efforts to halt the fighting, which included new Communist firebombing of the Tachens yesterday. More than four years ago the Security Council defeated an almost identical resolution.

A DISPUTE over including the Soviet resolution on the agenda under its title language of "U. S. Acts of Aggression Against the Chinese People's Republic in the Taiwan Formosa Area and Other Islands of China" threatened to delay the Council in its majority aim of getting off an invitation to Red China to send representatives here for the Formosa debate.

The U. N. Charter requires both sides in a dispute be invited to be represented. If Red China does send spokesmen, he will not have a vote.

Reds Quote FDR In New Peace Bid

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio today observed the 73rd anniversary of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's birth a day late. A commentator said the Soviet Union earnestly seeks the cooperation of the United States for "a stable and lasting peace" but declared that "cooperation has to be reciprocal."

In the birthday tribute, broadcast in English and beamed to North America, commentator Boris Timofeyev said:

"Roosevelt emphasized time and again that it was his deep conviction that the U.S.A. could arrive at a mutually suitable agreement with the U.S.S.R. in spite of the difference in social and political systems."

"It was only necessary that both parties show a real desire to cooperate for the sake of a stable and lasting peace."

"The U.S.S.R. has always earnestly sought this cooperation and today too this is the dominant aspect of its foreign policy."

"But it must be said—and President Roosevelt made a point of this—that if there is to be cooperation, all interested parties must strive for it."

Blizzard Of Bills Expected Tonight In Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS (AP)—With only nine legislative days left before bill introduction deadline, Ohio's general assemblymen return tonight to their chores tonight. Another blizzard of bills is expected.

When they left the capitol last Thursday, 423 bills were in the hopper. Two years ago, they mustered 1,178 proposed laws before the boom fell. But in the 1953 session, the Senate observed no deadline on bill introduction. It will this year, the first time since 1939.

While legislators drive toward their Feb. 14 bill deadline, they will be hearing a relatively short list of 24 bills this week.

One of the top-interest hearings will be on a bill to create a special pension system for Ohio's judges — Supreme Court, appeals courts, common pleas, probate and municipal courts.

Judges now are eligible for pensions under the Public Employee Retirement System. All previous attempts to set up a special pension system for judges have failed.

THE NEWEST attempt to create the special system is sponsored by Sens. Raymond E. Hildebrand (R-Lucas) and John T. Corrigan (D-Cuyahoga). It proposes a pension of 25 per cent of a judge's salary after he has served 12 years and has reached the age of 60 or 55 if he is disabled. The top would be 40 per cent after 18 years' service.

The judges' pension system hearing is scheduled for tomorrow night before the Senate Civil Service and Retirement Committee.

Another bill which has attracted attention is up for hearing tonight. It is the measure providing penalties for telephone party line subscribers who refuse to yield use of a line in an emergency.

It is before the Senate Highways and Public Utilities Committee, which also will hold a second hearing the same night on a measure which would strip the Ohio Turnpike Commission of the final authority to issue bonds for the construction of further turnpikes.

The turnpike bill got a fairly cool reception at its first hearing when only the author, Sen. David McK. Ferguson (R-Guernsey) and two other men spoke in its favor.

Tomorrow night, the House Conservation Committee will hold its first hearing on a bill providing the revocation of hunting license for any person who, while hunting, kills a human or a domestic animal.

A second, and probably final, hearing is scheduled after the Senate session Wednesday on a bill to make mandatory the teaching of a number of basic subjects in Ohio's public schools. Before the committee takes any action on the bill, which has an exact counterpart before a House committee, it must decide on an amendment which would make the teaching of part of the list of subjects mandatory and part optional.

Sen. Mansfield Set To Follow Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said today international affairs have reached the stage where members of Congress must "put our faith in President Eisenhower" to reach a settlement of world problems without war.

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he was "standing behind the President" on U. S. support of a United Nations effort to end hostilities between the Chinese Nationalists and Communists in the area of Formosa.

Although he said this move implies "the recognition of the existence of two Chinas," Mansfield said he is willing to follow Eisenhower's lead in the matter.

COLUMBUS (AP)—Damage estimated at $150,000 was reported today in a fire at the Rite Rug Co. warehouse here. Firemen battled the blaze in sub zero temperatures for several hours to keep the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

Increase Seen For Nearly All Independents

Ammer Blasts Raise Granted Without Notice And Hearing

In a disclosure that may have statewide repercussions, Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer revealed Monday that the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Company has been granted an increase in long distance rates, within its system, without knowledge of the general public.

The increase is now in effect on long distance calls made inside Pickaway County, it was learned, but has yet to be generally noticed since customers have not received their bills for January service. The increase, which presumably dates back to Jan. 1, seemingly was granted without Consolidated asking for it.

Ed Jury, local manager here for Ohio Consolidated, confirmed Monday noon that the firm has increased rates on long distance calls in this area. However, he added: "I am not authorized at this time to issue any statement. Any such statement will have to come from our main offices."

BY A booby-trap tariff provision, which reportedly was unknown even to the present members of the State Public Utilities Commission, long distance rates for "practically all" of Ohio's independent phone companies were boosted simultaneously when an increase was recently granted the Ohio Bell Telephone Company. This was revealed in a bombshell letter sent by Chairman Robert L. Moulton of the PUCO to William B. (Bill) Johnson, mayor of Williamsport.

Ammer gave the Williamsport mayor full credit for uncovering what appeared to be a "quiet" rate hike affecting telephone patrons all over the state. After an exchange of letters with the PUCO, Johnson turned the matter over to the prosecutor.

Johnson became suspicious after discovering earlier this month that the toll rate had been raised between his community and Circleville.

In the absence of a formal statement by main offices of Ohio Consolidated, details of the increase affecting Pickaway County points were not yet available. It was believed the increase applies to long distance calls made over an airline distance greater than eight miles.

Among new long distance rates reported unofficially here were the following:

Circleville-Williamsport, 15 cents station-to-station and 40 cents person-to-person; Circleville-Laurelville, 20 cents station-to-station and 45 cents person-to-person; Circleville-Ashville, 35 cents person-to-person.

The Circleville-Ashville toll, station-to-station, apparently remains unchanged at 10 cents. All the above rates are plus tax.

MOULTON, in his letter to Johnson, explained the surprise procedure as follows:

"This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter of recent date relative to increased toll charges being levied by the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Company."

"The increased toll rates to which you refer became effective over lines of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co., and practically all other independent companies in Ohio, as a result of the increase granted by the commission on December 31, 1954, to the Ohio Bell Telephone Co."

Ohio Desperado Gets High 'Rank'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Keneth Darrel Carpenter, an Ohio desperado wanted for the $9,300 robbery of a Kansas bank, is now on the FBI's list of "10 most wanted men."

The FBI described Carpenter, 42, a native of Wyandot County, Ohio, as "a hardened, desperate criminal," habitually carrying arms. He has served time in a number of prisons, and was conditionally released from Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary just about a month before the robbery of the bank at Oswego, Kan., last Nov. 27.

Two men looted the Oswego bank in five minutes, and one of them, Leroy Adolph, was caught two weeks later at Webb City, Mo. He confessed, named Carpenter as his companion, and got a 15-year federal sentence.

Fleet Awaits Orders To Start Evacuation

evacuation proposals. One Foreign Office spokesman said flatly, "If we evacuate, it should be only with the firm understanding that our other small islands, Quemoy and Matsu, will be defended by the U. S."

Some military men think there is too much urgency about evacuation.

They don't think the Communist seizure of Yikiangshan, an islet near the Tachens, this month seriously imperils the Tachens. Yikiangshan had no real defenses, Tachens have. Yikiangshan puts the Communists within gun range of the Tachens, true, but it also puts the Reds within Nationalist gun range.

The arguments go on while ships keep steam up and propellers whirl. Everybody seems to await orders.

A TROOP SHIP bringing wives and children of American servicemen stationed here is due this week. There has been no move to halt plans to bring more wives and children.

No military leaves have been canceled. No Americans have sent their families home to get them out of the range of Communist planes based only 150 miles away.

However, no one is asleep at the switch on this island bastion, which the Reds have openly threatened to "liberate at all costs."

$113 1/4 Million Development Set

Three separate tracts totalling 137 acres will make up the development, which will have a $2 million shopping center.

Flowers Recall FDR's Birthday

Among other floral tokens for Roosevelt, founder of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, were a tribute from the Warm Springs Foundation and one from President Eisenhower.

LOWLY BURRO MEXICAN FARMER'S BEST FRIEND

Returning from market place this little burro carries mother and child plus two baskets and other paraphernalia.

MEXICO CITY—It is the burro and not the dog that is man's best friend in Mexico.

Abused, sworn at, oftentimes ill fed, the patient plodding, humble burro is still the only means of transportation in a vast area of the republic. New roads, ever-widening air communications and railroads can never take away the importance of this domestic animal in the mountainous, out-of-the-way regions.

Even the much-vaunted jeep cannot pass along faint excuses for trails in the forbidding, rugged Sierras of the land. Sometimes, in the height of the heavy rainy season, even a burro balks at following a dangerous path that may hug a mountain, with a several thousand-foot drop if there is a misstep.

Trucks and other modern means of communication can only get just so far—after that, it is up to the burro. Without him a large part of rural Mexico could not exist.

BURRO pack trains haul out farm produce, precious and industrial metals, and Indian handicrafts from remote mountain villages. After bringing their loads to market, they face the weary journey homeward uncomplainingly, even though overloaded again with basic necessities such as salt, sugar, oil, yard goods, etc.

A rural family that has one burro is considered comfortably well off. Those with two or three wealthy, and the few arrieros, or muleteers with a dozen animals or more are envied as muy muy ricos (very, very rich indeed).

Everywhere one goes in Mexico, including the capital, one cannot fail to come across burros at work. At night, when the day's labor is finally done, they often roam on highways—a source of peril, with cows, to unsuspecting tourists from the north.

THE BURRO, of course, is not native to Mexico, but was introduced by the Spaniards in the Sixteenth Century. It is incredible, but the vast Aztec, Mayan and other Mexican Indian ruins, structures which utilized huge blocks of concrete, were erected without any beasts of burden, except human ones.

Slaves were the ones who had to fetch and carry and, communications, fleet runners—a Mexican version of the Pony Express minus the pony—raced through all the land. Often enough they brought delicacies such as shrimp, lobster and fresh fish to the tables of Aztec nobles in the ancient city of Tenochtitlan (Mexico City) from Vera Cruz or points on the Pacific.

The burro and the horse, innovations in the republic, soon acclimated themselves, reproduced and grew in numbers. When people finally threw off the Spanish yoke, it was the lowly burro that played a major role in the development of the new republic's agriculture.

THE SURE-FOOTED burro is the one who carried in construction materials, cement, lumber, furniture and other conveniences as rural Mexico suddenly started developing growing pains—with important market centers taking form before the coming of the railroad.

The role of the burro in the development of Mexico's agricultural areas is acknowledged by the campesinos (farmers) and there is a special day set aside, Dia de los Burritos, in their honor. Today, man's best friend for Mexican farmers has lost some ground, as farm-to-market roads grow in numbers and modern mechanical means replace the four-footed carrier. However, all this is generally in the accessible plains and valleys.

In the mountain fastnesses, the burro still reigns supreme as beast of burden and means of communication, and the chances are that he will never be deposed.

FARM NEWS and VIEWS

By R. S. SWENSON, County Agent

COUNCIL: The Agricultural Extension Advisory Council will meet at the county extension office in Circleville February 7 at 8 p. m.

The council is composed of leaders from all of the 15 townships in the county. Their purpose is to assist the extension agents in planning the program for the year and assist in strengthening the program.

The present chairman of the council is Ray Carpenter of Obiet Route 1.

DAIRY: The Dairy Service Unit board of directors will hold its Annual reorganization meeting February 7 at 1:30 p. m. in the county extension office, Circleville.

Officers for 1953 will be elected. The milk ring test for brucellosis will be discussed and plans made for 1953.

R. R. Starbuck of Ohio State University will attend the meeting.

The average cow in Ohio gets one pound of grain for each three pounds of milk produced. This is not necessary for maximum profits. Some dairymen are feeding one pound of grain for each six pounds of milk and getting very good results.

The cow is a ruminant and as such can use large amounts of roughage feeds to advantage. She has a large capacity.

Large dairy cattle breeds can eat enough roughage to maintain their bodies and produce 30 pounds milk per day. Small breeds can produce 20 pounds per day on roughage alone.

Grain feeding is an individual problem with each cow, based upon her production, size, percent of butterfat in milk and quality of the roughage. Good quality roughage is the cheapest feed for dairy cattle.

CATTLE: The annual meeting of the Ohio Cattle Feeders Association is being held this year at Findley next Wednesday and Thursday. A complete program for both cattlemen and their wives has been planned. Larry Best, former Pickaway County agent and present supervisor of extension in Northwestern Ohio, will be master of ceremonies at the banquet meeting Thursday.

DRAINAGE MEETING: Farmers and landowners of Pickaway County who have drainage problems on their farms will have the opportunity to get first-hand information by attending a tile installing demonstration on the Clark Brothers farm in Deercreek Township Friday afternoon at 1 p. m. The meeting is a cooperative venture between the Soil Conservation Service; Pickaway County Soil Conservation District; Everett Beers, tiling contractor, and the Extension Service.

Professor Virgil Overholt of Ohio State University will lead discussions on the following points:

1. Determining needs of drainage
2. Planning a tile system
3. Installing tile according to specifications
4. Grades and sizes of tile
5. Outlets
6. Results in increased yields due to complete drainage systems

The Clark Brothers' farm is located five miles west and one mile north of Circleville.

Shorts: USDA studies show that egg production was highest and feed consumption lowest when poultry house temperatures were maintained at 55 degrees.

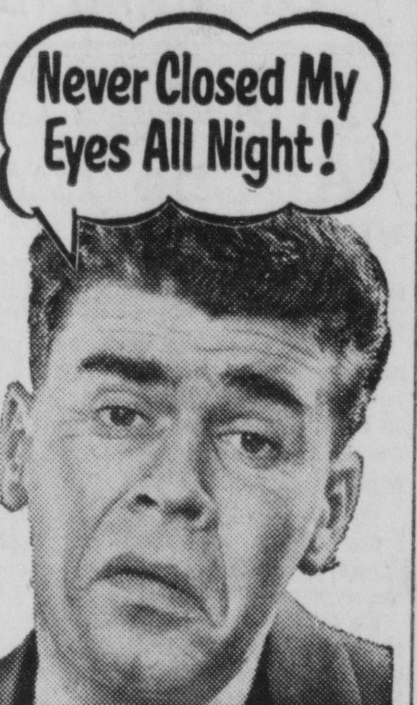

Topsoil lost through erosion contains three times as much organic matter, 2 1/2 to 5 times as much phosphorus and 2 1/2 to 10 times as much potash as is contained in exposed subsoil.

If an 8 pound baby grew as fast as a modern broiler chick, he would weigh 250 pounds in 10 weeks.

Individual cow records are important to dairymen to give them a careful check on inherited ability of his cows.

EXPANDED PROGRAM: Many of our readers have no doubt heard or read about the expanded program in agricultural extension education. It has been referred to at different times as "The New Look", "Farm and Home Planning", "Farm and Home Development", and other names.

Actually it is a farm approach, that is: The farm and home is looked upon and treated as a unit. It is the extension agent's responsibility, therefore, to give individual families help with several of their problems at one time, rather than by the single enterprise method. The fact is that each member of a family is a member of the board of directors of their farm unit and problems related to the farm are problems of all members of the family.

This type of extension teaching is not new. During the early days of extension education, agents would spend a great deal of their time visiting with individual farm families, assisting them with their problems.

During the '30's, '40's and early

'50's a great deal of extension agent's time has been devoted to emergency programs and using mass media of communication.

The farm unit approach to extension teaching is an attempt to give individual farm families more help with problems right out on the farm.

Sir Isaac Newton introduced the idea of mass and force and established the science of theoretical mechanics as it exists today.

LOWLY BURRO MEXICAN FARMER'S BEST FRIEND

Returning from market place this little burro carries mother and child plus two baskets and other paraphernalia.

By EMIL ZUBRYN

Central Press Correspondent

MEXICO CITY—It is the burro and not the dog that is man's best friend in Mexico.

Abused, sworn at, oftentimes ill fed, the patient plodding, humble burro is still the only means of transportation in a vast area of the republic. New roads, ever-widening air communications and railroads can never take away the importance of this domestic animal in the mountainous, out-of-the-way regions.

Even the much-vaunted jeep cannot pass along faint excuses for trails in the forbidding, rugged Sierras of the land. Sometimes, in the height of the heavy rainy season, even a burro balks at following a dangerous path that may hug a mountain, with a several thousand-foot drop if there is a misstep.

Trucks and other modern means of communication can only get just so far—after that, it is up to the burro. Without him a large part of rural Mexico could not exist.

BURRO pack trains haul out farm produce, precious and industrial metals, and Indian handicrafts from remote mountain villages. After bringing their loads to market, they face the weary journey homeward uncomplainingly, even though overloaded again with basic necessities such as salt, sugar, oil, yard goods, etc.

A rural family that has one burro is considered comfortably well off. Those with two or three wealthy, and the few arrieros, or muleteers with a dozen animals or more are envied as muy muy ricos (very, very rich indeed).

Everywhere one goes in Mexico, including the capital, one cannot fail to come across burros at work. At night, when the day's labor is finally done, they often roam on highways—a source of peril, with cows, to unsuspecting tourists from the north.

THE BURRO, of course, is not native to Mexico, but was introduced by the Spaniards in the Sixteenth Century. It is incredible, but the vast Aztec, Mayan and other Mexican Indian ruins, structures which utilized huge blocks of concrete, were erected without any beasts of burden, except human ones.

Slaves were the ones who had to fetch and carry and, communications, fleet runners—a Mexican version of the Pony Express minus the pony—raced through all the land. Often enough they brought delicacies such as shrimp, lobster and fresh fish to the tables of Aztec nobles in the ancient city of Tenochtitlan (Mexico City) from Vera Cruz or points on the Pacific.

The burro and the horse, innovations in the republic, soon acclimatized themselves, reproduced and grew in numbers. When people finally threw off the Spanish yoke, it was the lowly burro that played a major role in the development of the new republic's agriculture.

THE SURE-FOOTED burro is the one who carried in construction materials, cement, lumber, furniture and other conveniences as rural Mexico suddenly started developing growing pains—with important market centers taking form before the coming of the railroad.

The role of the burro in the development of Mexico's agricultural areas is acknowledged by the campesinos (farmers) and there is a special day set aside, Dia de los Burritos, in their honor. Today, man's best friend for Mexican farmers has lost some ground, as farm-to-market roads grow in numbers and modern mechanical means replace the four-footed carrier. However, all this is generally in the accessible plains and valleys.

In the mountain fastnesses, the burro still reigns supreme as beast of burden and means of communication, and the chances are that he will never be replaced.

FARM NEWS and VIEWS

By R. S. SWENSON, County Agent

COUNCIL: The Agricultural Extension Advisory Council will meet at the county extension office in Circleville February 7 at 8 p. m.

The council is composed of leaders from all of the 15 townships in the county. Their purpose is to assist the extension agents in planning the program for the year and assist in strengthening the program.

The present chairman of the council is Ray Carpenter of Orient Route 1.

DAIRY: The Dairy Service Unit board of directors will hold its Annual reorganization meeting February 7 at 1:30 p. m. in the county extension office, Circleville.

Officers for 1953 will be elected. The milk ring test for brucellosis will be discussed and plans made for 1953.

R. R. Starbuck of Ohio State University will attend the meeting.

The average cow in Ohio gets one pound of grain for each three pounds of milk produced. This is not necessary for maximum profits. Some dairymen are feeding one pound of grain for each six pounds of milk and getting very good results.

The cow is a ruminant and as such can use large amounts of roughage feeds to advantage. She has a large capacity.

Large dairy cattle breeds can eat enough roughage to maintain their bodies and produce 30 pounds milk per day. Small breeds can produce 20 pounds per day on roughage alone.

Grain feeding is an individual problem with each cow, based upon her production, size, percent of butterfat in milk and quality of the roughage. Good quality roughage is the cheapest feed for dairy cattle.

CATTLE: The annual meeting of the Ohio Cattle Feeders Association is being held this year at Findley next Wednesday and Thursday. A complete program for both cattlemen and their wives has been planned. Larry Best, former Pickaway County agent and present supervisor of extension in Northwestern Ohio, will be master of ceremonies at the banquet meeting Thursday.

DRAINAGE MEETING: Farmers and landowners of Pickaway County who have drainage problems on their farms will have the opportunity to get first-hand information by attending a tile installing demonstration on the Clark Brothers farm in Deercreek Township Friday afternoon at 1 p. m. The meeting is a cooperative venture between the Soil Conservation Service, Pickaway County Soil Conservation District, Everett Beers, tiling contractor, and the Extension Service.

Professor Virgil Overholt of Ohio State University will lead discussions on the following points:

1. Determining needs of drainage
2. Planning a tile system
3. Installing tile according to specifications
4. Grades and sizes of tile
5. Outlets
6. Results in increased yields due to complete drainage systems

The Clark Brothers' farm is located five miles west and one mile north of Circleville.

egg production was highest and feed consumption lowest when poultry house temperatures were maintained at 55 degrees.

Topsoil lost through erosion contains three times as much organic matter, 2 1/2 to 5 times as much phosphorus and 2 1/2 to 10 times as much potash as is contained in exposed subsoil.

If an 8 pound baby grew as fast as a modern broiler chick, he would weigh 250 pounds in 10 weeks.

Individual cow records are important to dairymen to give them a careful check on inherited ability of his cows.

FRIENDS AND SURPLUS

BECAUSE IT IS handling a larger volume of farm crops under the price support program than it had anticipated, the Commodity Credit Corporation has asked Congress for an additional $7 million to meet administrative expenses.

In approving the request the House Appropriations Committee found fault with CCC for not unloading greater quantities of its surpluses in world markets. The government now is burdened with $7 billion in surplus commodities.

As a matter of fact CCC hasn't been entirely idle in this respect and has made some progress. In recent months it has sold $45 million worth to foreign nations and gifts have totaled $125 million. Crops to the value of $93 million have been exchanged for strategic materials, and distributions for welfare purposes have come to $150 million.

Compared to the total surpluses in warehouses, this has made only a dent. Obviously it isn't easy to dispose of the hoard.

A new complication has developed in the surplus picture. Several of the countries which might purchase or receive as gifts commodities from the United States are complaining that such transactions would wreck their own markets for similar products. It is becoming more difficult daily to make friends through generosity.

ANOTHER RED SWITCH

IT IS UNLIKELY that the Soviet Union's ambassadors to the leading Western powers have been recalled to Moscow to consult on future policy. These embassies are listening posts in West Europe and the United States.

These outposts of communism feed their findings regularly to the Kremlin. There can be no doubt that they have been summoned for new instructions straight from the horse's mouth. This obviates all danger of leakage of interception.

Moscow loves to play its cards close to its vest, but the game is running out. Free world diplomats, now skilled in determining Moscow policy by its actions, will soon know what red ambassadors to the United States, Britain, France and West Germany were told at the Kremlin.

After the last such meeting the Moscow plotters came up with coexistence. The aftermath of this meeting may be different.

New tactics may be renewed efforts to splinter the West, rendering united action futile. They will result in frustration for Moscow if the West stands together militarily and economically, further buttressing a prosperity that makes the communist lands seem plague-stricken by comparison.

Two thousand citizens of Denver, evacuated in a mock bomb attack, had dinner with farmers in the surrounding area. Under such circumstances war would be hell for farm wives.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Chiang Kai-shek is a native of the village of Fenghua outside of Ningpo in the province of Chekiang. Ningpo had been a revolutionary center of China during the nearly three centuries that the Manchus ruled China. The Red and Green secret societies were active there during this long period, carrying on an underground movement to free China from alien rule.

Chiang entered the political life of China as a subordinate of General Chen Chi-mei, one of the most important collaborators of Sun Yat-sen in the early days of the Revolution. He studied for a short while in the Peiyang Military Academy which trained officers for the Peking government; he went to Japan for a short period to study in a military school there.

He became aide to Dr. Sun Yat-sen when the latter was in exile in the French Concession in Shanghai plotting new revolutions and seeking aid first from the United States, then from Germany and finally from Soviet Russia.

Sun was first approached by Lenin in the form of a cable inviting the Chinese leader to attend a conference in Moscow. As I was present when the cable was delivered to Dr. Sun and translated it for him from the French, I know of his surprise that it should have come. As a result of this invitation, Dr. Sun sent Chiang to study Red Army school methods in Russia, where he remained for less than a year.

This particular event changed the course of Chiang's life. After Sun Yat-sen had come to an agreement with Soviet Russia for support of his 1924 Revolution, Michael Borodin and General Bluecher-Galens, the Russian agents, established the Whampoa Military Academy with Chiang Kai-shek at its head and with a staff of Russian instructors.

Sun Yat-sen died on March 12, 1925. Quarrels ensued among the senior Kuomintang leaders over the succession. Chiang and the cadets of the Whampoa Military Academy, under authority of Michael Borodin, seized the city and the leadership of the Nationalist Party and the Revolution. From that moment, until he broke with the Russians in Hankow during the Christmas week of 1926, Chiang was in charge of the revolutionary armies that eventually mastered China.

Chiang's break with the Russians followed the Kremlin's decision that Borodin establish a Chinese puppet government completely obedient to Moscow. Chiang is not only obstinate but he has a forceful temper, as General Stilwell was to learn.

When Chiang discovered, through an Indian Trotskyist what was being planned for him and his country, he escaped to Shanghai alone, leaving his armies and the government he nominally headed behind him. Supported by Shanghai bankers and business men, he set up the Nanking government, regained most of his armies, expelled the Russians and entered upon a series of wars which are not yet ended. The Communist armies remained independent of him and have fought him to this day.

His marriage to Meiling Soong was not, as so many have said, a politically arranged marriage. Politically at that moment, it was of no advantage to Chiang, nor was Meiling then a political personality. The Soong family was never politically united, ranging from the Right Wing position of Dr. H. H. Kung to the pro-Communist attitude of Mme. Sun Yat-sen who disliked Chiang. It was a romantic marriage, as unusual as that was in those days in China.

Everyone Gets Measles At One Time or Another

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

NOW that the holiday season is behind us, the measles season is upon us.

Usually a severe outbreak of measles occurs every two or three years, since it takes a year or so to build up a new population of susceptible children.

Many Cases Expected

In Chicago, we can expect from 25,000 to 30,000 cases of measles to be reported each three years.

So common is this disease considered, many parents have become careless about it and treat it as only a slight ailment of their children.

Yet measles may be a dangerous disease for babies because they are much more likely to develop complications such as pneumonia.

A Universal Problem

Just about everyone is going to get measles sometime. Average age of the victims now is from five and a half to six and a half years old. More than 95 per cent of our adult population has had it. Luckily, one attack means you usually are immune from another.

If you mothers have had measles, your baby probably will be immune to an attack for the first three to six months of his life. After that, however, he is highly susceptible.

If your baby has been exposed to measles, perhaps through a brother or sister, for instance, the doctor, as a rule, thinks it would be a good idea to have him given an injection of gamma globulin. This will either protect him from catching the measles for from two to three weeks or make an impending attack a mild one.

Any child between the ages of four and six months with an acute or chronic disease should be protected from a case of measles with gamma globulin.

The symptoms of measles are typical. If your child has it, he will first become drowsy, irritable and seem to be developing a cold. Then his eyes become inflamed and he will avoid bright light. He will have a running nose, sneeze repeatedly and develop a hacking cough.

Within another day or two his temperature will mount to 100 or 101. After the third day a rash of blotchy, reddish-purple spots appear, first on his face and then all over his body.

High Temperature

By this time his temperature may be up to about 103 to 105 degrees.

Above all, you must now keep him from catching cold. Keep him in bed in a warm, well-ventilated room until at least a week after his temperature has returned to normal. Keep the room temperature between 68 and 72 degrees both day and night.

The room doesn't have to be dark, but don't have it brightly lighted.

You can sponge him with a dilute solution of sodium bicarbonate to help ease the itching.

And, of course, call your doctor. With antibiotics he can usually prevent development of any serious complications.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

I. V.: I itch terribly, mostly on my legs. The more I scratch, the more it itches. Some nights I do not get much sleep.

Answer: Itching on the legs can come from many causes. It may be due to chemicals which come in contact with the skin, to irritation from cold or heat, to foods which are eaten, as well as to various infections.

You should have a thorough and complete examination by your physician to determine just what is producing the trouble. Then the proper treatment for the condition can be suggested.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

I PICKED up the phone and asked for a town and name. It took a little while to get him. When he answered, it sounded as if he'd already hit the sack.

"Hello, Red," I said. "This is Grady. Will you meet me tomorrow, early, at the crossroads? I need some help up on Spine Rocks."

"You still think something happened up there Saturday?"

"Yes—and the same thing nearly happened again today."

"What?"

"I believe you heard me. 'Anything to do with that eagle?'" His voice was hungering.

"Yes. Just about sundown tonight it was down at me."

I heard him whistle, and then he got it.

"You say down at you?" he demanded, his voice rising.

"I'll tell you about it when I see you. Can you make it about daylight?"

"Yes. I'm just thinking," I said. "That changes things. When could you meet me if you left Romney right now?"

"Now?" he asked incredulously. "In the middle of the night?"

"Yes."

"Well, taking time to dress and grab a bite to eat, I could get there about two-thirty. He sounded puzzled.

"Good!" I said. "I'll eat, too, and I'll meet you at the crossroads at two-thirty. And Red, bring a gun if you have one."

"What kind of gun?"

"Something that would kill an eagle or a dog. And one more thing, Red," I said—"bring something we can dig with."

"That's the way it happened," I said. We were sitting in my Jaguar with Red's jeep parked behind us in the dark. "I wanted to fill you in before we go up on the mountain. I imagined the eagle would have gone back to him till you said you didn't think so. That gave me hope."

"Yes," Red said, down in his throat. "I think we stand a chance."

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's bypassing of the United Nations in asking for congressional authority to defend Formosa and the Pescadores is regarded as a serious but necessary slight to the international organization. Finally and conclusively, his unilateral action indicates the 10-year-old body as an utterly ineffective instrument for preservation of world peace.

Former President Truman sought U. N. sanction after he decided to resist North Korean Communists' invasion of South Korea. He obtained it only because the Russian delegation had boycotted the Security Council, and were not present to veto Truman's request. Even then, the U. N. forces furnished only token support in that conflict, which is still a sore point on Capitol Hill.

DOUBTS—He obviously realized that Moscow would block approval of his new policy, if it were submitted to the U. N. More important, he was not certain—and is not now convinced—of the favorable attitude of our NATO Allies or of the Afro-Asian bloc of neutrals, headed by India and Egypt.

In short, Eisenhower did not dare to chance a showdown with Russia, or with the West European powers on an issue that could lead to World War III. As a result, we do not know yet whether our overseas friends would come in with us, if Ike's aggressive policy precipitates hostilities, including an American attack on the mainland.

We do not know whether they would approve or denounce use of the atom or hydrogen bomb, if it became necessary to employ those weapons against Mao Tse-tung's far superior manpower strength. Such a prospect would impose an enormous strain on Allied unity, which is what Moscow and Peking most desire to achieve.

CEASE-FIRE—It is significant that the most appealing part of Ike's program to our Allies is his proposal for a cease-fire agreement between Chinese Communists and Nationalists. It is also the only subject which he advanced for possible consideration by the U. N., and then only informally.

Neither Britain nor France can afford a war with Russia or China, since they might suffer immediately and severely from conventional or atomic bombing, whereas the U. S. should be almost immune. Both seek a new attempt at an understanding with the Soviet, which is jeopardized by Washington's latest action.

The French and British stand to lose materially in an all-out Far Eastern conflict. The British would undoubtedly be driven from Hongkong and Singapore, probably from Burma and Malaya. The French would have to sacrifice their present weakened foothold in Indochina.

SUPPORT—It is doubtful, too, if the important Afro-Asian bloc would join us, or even look favorably on our anti-Mao policy. Thirty Afro-Asian nations meet in Indonesia next month to frame a neutral or "third force" organization. They have invited Mao to attend, but they have omitted Japan, the Philippines and Chiang Kai-shek's regime on the ground that they are "American puppets."

Our prestige with this group of fence-sitters is not especially high at the moment. India represents our military pact with Pakistan, and opposes SEATO, which we sponsored. Egypt seeks to arouse the Arab States against the Turkish-Iraqi military alliance because it threatens to disrupt Moslem solidarity. This, too, is a Dulles-Eisenhower project.

Such is the gloomy situation discovered through diplomatic surveys since Eisenhower submitted his "fight, if must" program. The picture may brighten, at least temporarily, if Mao and Malenkov decide to temporize rather than fight it out now. But it suggests that the U. S. will find scant support or sympathy in such a conflict from the U. N. collectively, or from our major World War I and II Allies.

FRIENDS AND SURPLUS
BECAUSE IT IS handling a larger volume of farm crops under the price support program than it had anticipated, the Commodity Credit Corporation has asked Congress for an additional $7 million to meet administrative expenses.
In approving the request the House Appropriations Committee found fault with CCC for not unloading greater quantities of its surpluses in world markets. The government now is burdened with $7 billion in surplus commodities.
As a matter of fact CCC hasn't been entirely idle in this respect and has made some progress. In recent months it has sold $45 million worth to foreign nations and gifts have totalled $125 million. Crops to the value of $93 million have been exchanged for strategic materials, and distributions for welfare purposes have come to $150 million.
Compared to the total surpluses in warehouses, this has made only a dent. Obviously it isn't easy to dispose of the hoard.
A new complication has developed in the surplus picture. Several of the countries which might purchase or receive as gifts commodities from the United States are complaining that such transactions would wreck their own markets for similar products. It is becoming more difficult daily to make friends through generosity.

ANOTHER RED SWITCH
IT IS UNLIKELY that the Soviet Union's ambassadors to the leading Western powers have been recalled to Moscow to consult on future policy. These embassies are listening posts in West Europe and the United States.
These outposts of communism feed their findings regularly to the Kremlin. There can be no doubt that they have been summoned for new instructions straight from the horse's mouth. This obviates all danger of leakage of interception.
Moscow loves to play its cards close to its vest, but the game is running out. Free world diplomats, now skilled in determining Moscow policy by its actions, will soon know what red ambassadors to the United States, Britain, France and West Germany were told at the Kremlin.
After the last such meeting the Moscow plotters came up with coexistence. The aftermath of this meeting may be different. New tactics may be renewed efforts to splinter the West, rendering united action futile. They will result in frustration for Moscow if the West stands together militarily and economically, further buttressing a prosperity that makes the communist lands seem plague-stricken by comparison.
Two thousand citizens of Denver, evacuated in a mock bomb attack, had dinner with farmers in the surrounding area. Under such circumstances war would be hell for farm wives.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days
Chiang Kai-shek is a native of the village of Fenghua outside of Ningpo in the province of Chekiang. Ningpo had been a revolutionary center of China during the nearly three centuries that the Manchus ruled China. The Red and Green secret societies were active there during this long period, carrying on an underground movement to free China from alien rule.
Chiang entered the political life of China as a subordinate of General Chen Chi-mei, one of the most important collaborators of Sun Yat-sen in the early days of the Revolution. He studied for a short while in the Peiyang Military Academy which trained officers for the Peking government; he went to Japan for a short period to study in a military school there.
He became aide to Dr. Sun Yat-sen when the latter was in exile in the French Concession in Shanghai plotting new revolutions and seeking aid first from the United States, then from Germany and finally from Soviet Russia.
Sun was first approached by Lenin in the form of a cable inviting the Chinese leader to attend a conference in Moscow. As I was present when the cable was delivered to Dr. Sun and translated it for him from the French, I know of his surprise that it should have come. As a result of this invitation, Dr. Sun sent Chiang to study Red Army school methods in Russia, where he remained for less than a year.
This particular event changed the course of Chiang's life. After Sun Yat-sen had come to an agreement with Soviet Russia for support of his 1924 Revolution, Michael Borodin and General Bluecher-Galens, the Russian agents, established the Whampoa Military Academy with Chiang Kai-shek at its head and with a staff of Russian instructors.
Sun Yat-sen died on March 12, 1925. Quarrels ensued among the senior Kuomintang leaders over the succession. Chiang and the cadets of the Whampoa Military Academy, under authority of Michael Borodin, seized the city and the leadership of the Nationalist Party and the Revolution. From that moment, until he broke with the Russians in Hankow during the Christmas week of 1926, Chiang was in charge of the revolutionary armies that eventually mastered China.
Chiang's break with the Russians followed the Kremlin's decision that Borodin establish a Chinese puppet government completely obedient to Moscow. Chiang is not only obstinate but he has a forceful temper, as General Stilwell was to learn.
When Chiang discovered, through an Indian Trotskyist what was being planned for him and his country, he escaped to Shanghai alone, leaving his armies and the government he nominally headed behind him. Supported by Shanghai bankers and business men, he set up the Nanking government, regained most of his armies, expelled the Russians and entered upon a series of wars which are not yet ended. The Communist armies remained independent of him and have fought him to this day.
His marriage to Meiling Soong was not, as so many have said, a politically arranged marriage. Politically at that moment, it was of no advantage to Chiang, nor was Meiling then a political personality. The Soong family was never politically united, ranging from the Right Wing position of Dr. H. H. Kung to the pro-Communist attitude of Mme. Sun Yat-sen who disliked Chiang. It was a romantic marriage, as unusual as that was in those days in China.

Everyone Gets Measles At One Time or Another
By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
NOW that the holiday season is behind us, the measles season is upon us.
Usually a severe outbreak of measles occurs every two or three years, since it takes a year or so to build up a new population of susceptible children.
Many Cases Expected
In Chicago, we can expect from 25,000 to 30,000 cases of measles to be reported each three years.
So common is this disease considered, many parents have become careless about it and treat it as only a slight ailment of their children.
Yet measles may be a dangerous disease for babies because they are much more likely to develop complications such as pneumonia.
A Universal Problem
Just about everyone is going to get measles sometime. Average age of the victims now is from five and a half to six and a half years old. More than 95 per cent of our adult population has had it. Luckily, one attack means you usually are immune from another.
If you mothers have had measles, your baby probably will be immune to an attack for the first three to six months of his life. After that, however, he is highly susceptible.
If your baby has been exposed to measles, perhaps through a brother or sister, for instance, the doctor, as a rule, thinks it would be a good idea to have him given an injection of gamma globulin. This will either protect him from catching the measles for from two to three weeks or make an impending attack a mild one.
Any child between the ages of four and 36 months with an acute or chronic disease should be protected from a case of measles with gamma globulin.
The symptoms of measles are typical. If your child has it, he will first become drowsy, irritable and seem to be developing a cold. Then his eyes become inflamed and he will avoid bright light. He will have a running nose, sneeze repeatedly and develop a hacking cough.
Within another day or two his temperature will mount to 100 or 101. After the third day a rash of blotchy, reddish-purple spots appear, first on his face and then all over his body.
High Temperature
By this time his temperature may be up to about 103 to 105 degrees.
Above all, you must now keep him from catching cold. Keep him in bed in a warm, well-ventilated room until at least a week after his temperature has returned to normal. Keep the room temperature between 68 and 72 degrees both day and night.
The room doesn't have to be dark, but don't have it brightly lighted.
You can sponge him with a dilute solution of sodium bicarbonate to help ease the itching.
And, of course, call your doctor. With antibiotics he can usually prevent development of any serious complications.
QUESTION AND ANSWER
I. V.: I itch terribly, mostly on my legs. The more I scratch, the more it itches. Some nights I do not get much sleep.
Answer: Itching on the legs can come from many causes. It may be due to chemicals which come in contact with the skin, to irritation from cold or heat, to foods which are eaten, as well as to various infections.
You should have a thorough and complete examination by your physician to determine just what is producing the trouble. Then the proper treatment for the condition can be suggested.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX
I PICKED up the phone and asked for a town and a name. It took a little while to get him. When he answered, it sounded as if he'd already hit the sack.
"Hello, Red," I said. "This is Grat. Will you meet me tomorrow, early, at the crossroads? I need some help up on Spine Rocks."
"You still think something happened up there Saturday?"
"Yes—and the same thing nearly happened again today."
"What?"
"I believe you heard me."
"Anything to do with that eagle?" His voice was hungry.
"Yes. Just about sundown to night it was down at me."
I heard him whistle, and then he got it.
"You say frown at you?" he demanded, his voice rising.
"I'll tell you about it when I see you. Can you make it about daylight?"
"If the eagle came at you that late today he'll be perched near there now," he said. "We'll have to get there before daylight or he'll move out on us when it gets light."
"Say that again," I said.
"If the eagle didn't make a kill—and take it he didn't," he laughed flatly—"he'd hang around there all night. In other words, being as near evening as that, I wouldn't expect him to go back to wherever he came from until daylight tomorrow." He paused. "Are you still there, Grat?"
"Yes. I'm just thinking," I said. "That changes things. When could you meet me if you left Romney right now?"
"Now?" he asked incredulously.
"In the middle of the night?"
"Yes."
"Well, taking time to dress and grab a bite to eat, I could get there about two-thirty." He sounded puzzled.
"Good!" I said. "I'll eat, too, and I'll meet you at the crossroads at two-thirty. And Red, bring a gun if you have one."
"What kind of gun?"
"Something that would kill an eagle or a dog. And one more thing, Red," I said, "bring something we can dig with."
"That's the way it happened," I said. We were sitting in my Jaguar with Red's jeep parked behind us in the dark. "I wanted to fill you in before we go up on the mountain. I imagined the eagle would have gone back to him till you said you didn't think so. That gave me hope."
"Yes," Red said, down in his throat. "I think we stand a chance."

4-H Adviser Conference Is Held At Wittenberg College

County Delegates Lead Discussions

A total of 22 counties of Southwestern Ohio District of Cooperative Extension in Agriculture and Home Economics held a 4-H Adviser Conference Friday and Saturday on the Wittenberg College Campus at Springfield.

This session was financed by the Ohio 4-H Club Foundation. Counties were allotted representation to the conference on the basis of the amount of the Foundation Quota paid. Its full quota being paid, Pickaway County was allowed full representation.

In different channels and by persons of varying occupations and interests, the many purposes, policies, procedures, and philosophies of 4-H Club work were presented.

A. B. Graham, founder of 4-H Club Work, gave the opening address on "4-H Club Objectives and Ways To Attain Them." Others on the program were: Dr. Harold Capener and J. P. Schmidt, Rural Sociologists of Ohio State University; Edwin L. Kirby, Extension Supervisor of S.W. Ohio; H. W. Harshfield, Robert McCormick, and Eva Kinsey, state 4-H leaders; Dr. Amalie Nelson, homemaker and psychologist of Columbus; Peggie Farmer, lecturer of Dayton; and Elizabeth Raup, Miami County Home Demonstration Agent.

Mrs. Frank Graves of Pickaway Township and Clarence Maxson of Salt Creek Township were two of the 12 advisors who served, by request of the State Staff, as leaders of a discussion group session, which was a highlight of each day.

Those representing Pickaway County were: Mrs. Berman Wertman and Mrs. William Purdin of Circleville Township, Hewitt Cromley and Mrs. Frank Baum of Harrison Township; Ralph Haughn of Scioto Township; Mrs. Ruth Glick of Walnut Township; Mrs. Leora Sayre of the County Extension staff; Mrs. Graves; and Mr. Maxson.

Mrs. Helen Pickens, County Health Nurse and Ralph Wallace, Pickaway County Humane Officer, were consultants for badge activities of Girl Scout Troop 22.

Mrs. Pickens addressed the troop members on several phases in Child Care and Mr. Wallace used as his topic the care and training of cats and dogs.

Mrs. Eleanor Dawson and Mrs. Lee Smith, troop leaders, will help the scouts to complete the activities listed in these two fields in preparation for the Spring Court of Awards, when the girls are to receive badge awards for their accomplishments.

The members of Brownie Troop 26 are concentrating on crafts during their sessions. Calendars showing a picture of the troop members were made as gifts for the fathers of the girls. Sewing cards showing sample stitches have been completed and the girls plan to make felt bookmarks. Among the troop projects for the year is a Brownie Scrapbook, which the girls work on at various times during the meetings.

The troop, led by Mrs. Charles Thompson and Mrs. Louis Wuest, entertained their second grade teachers and the members of the troop committee at a party planned and carried out by the girls themselves.

The girls have been divided into patrols according to their ages, and are being assisted by Miss Pat Davis, Circleville High School teacher, in folk dancing. During a party held in the home of Mrs. Jackson, the scouts listened to music on the piano, saxophone and drum.

After learning to sing several carols properly, the scouts entertained the patients at the homes and hospitals and also visited several shut-ins. A party in the St. Paul church basement followed the singing tour.

The Brownies in Troop 28 are learning the duties of club officers. Elections are held every two weeks, and the girls hold discussions on their work as officials of the club.

Among the craft projects of the troop, was the decorating of plates as gifts to the mothers of the girls. A total of 32 scouts and parents attended a party when the gifts were presented to the mothers. Mrs. Walter Heine, Girl Scout Commissioner, also was a guest at this session.

Mrs. Lewis Cooper and Mrs. Richard E. Conrad are leaders of the 14 girls in this troop.

Mrs. Thomas Has Project Session At Grange Meet

Mrs. William Thomas, Home Economics Chairman, announced projects for the coming year during a meeting of the Washington Grange.

Worthy Master F. R. Lands presided at the meeting, which was held in the Washington Township school. A total of 30 members and juveniles were present for the session, when a committee report was given on a fox drive held in the community.

"SURIN is a fast, effective treatment for pain relief — not a cure. DON'T TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT — rely on the published medical report on SURIN, which proves its effectiveness in relieving arthritic-rheumatic pain! Clinicians who tested it stated that with an increased period of effective relief at point of pain, patients often experience increased freedom of joint movement. This is the substance of solid facts published in a medical journal. SURIN IS SWIFT — DIRECT! No matter how long you've suffered arthritic-rheumatic pains, do try SURIN! You May Be Worth Your Weight In Gold

Yes, but not if you are overweight. Insurance companies would consider you a poor risk because your life expectancy is diminished in proportion to the number of pounds you are overweight. If you once sincerely make up your mind to reduce you will do it. Read this letter from Mrs. Susan Krach, 6413 Luther Ave., Cleveland 3, Ohio. She writes: "I am 58 years old. A short time ago I was advised by my doctor to lose weight, and did so with the help of Rennie. Since the day I started taking Rennie I have lost 50 lbs. My weight is almost back to normal. Best of all I look and feel 10 years younger." Thousands of others have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennie Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoons twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves — if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on Rennie.

Mrs. Pickens, Assist In Girl Scout Work

Mrs. Helen Pickens, County Health Nurse and Ralph Wallace, Pickaway County Humane Officer, were consultants for badge activities of Girl Scout Troop 22.

Mrs. Pickens addressed the troop members on several phases in Child Care and Mr. Wallace used as his topic the care and training of cats and dogs.

Mrs. Eleanor Dawson and Mrs. Lee Smith, troop leaders, will help the scouts to complete the activities listed in these two fields in preparation for the Spring Court of Awards, when the girls are to receive badge awards for their accomplishments.

Mrs. William J. Wilson and Mrs. John Keller are assisting the girls of Troop 25 to learn the proper procedure for setting a table. Refreshments were served to the Brownie Scouts and a demonstration of table manners was given. Drawings of properly set tables were made by the girls.

The members of Brownie Troop 26 are concentrating on crafts during their sessions. Calendars showing a picture of the troop members were made as gifts for the fathers of the girls. Sewing cards showing sample stitches have been completed and the girls plan to make felt bookmarks. Among the troop projects for the year is a Brownie Scrapbook, which the girls work on at various times during the meetings.

The troop, led by Mrs. Charles Thompson and Mrs. Louis Wuest, entertained their second grade teachers and the members of the troop committee at a party planned and carried out by the girls themselves.

Mr. Wallace Scout Work

Music and folk dancing activities are being directed by Mrs. John Jackson and Miss Elizabeth Hill for members of Troop 11.

The girls have been divided into patrols according to their ages, and are being assisted by Miss Pat Davis, Circleville High School teacher, in folk dancing. During a party held in the home of Mrs. Jackson, the scouts listened to music on the piano, saxophone and drum.

After learning to sing several carols properly, the scouts entertained the patients at the homes and hospitals and also visited several shut-ins. A party in the St. Paul church basement followed the singing tour.

The Brownies in Troop 28 are learning the duties of club officers. Elections are held every two weeks, and the girls hold discussions on their work as officials of the club.

Among the craft projects of the troop, was the decorating of plates as gifts to the mothers of the girls. A total of 32 scouts and parents attended a party when the gifts were presented to the mothers. Mrs. Walter Heine, Girl Scout Commissioner, also was a guest at this session. Mrs. Lewis Cooper and Mrs. Richard E. Conrad are leaders of the 14 girls in this troop.

Hal Boyle Says:

Men Getting Fatter; Why?

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Public Health Service has found the body shapes of Mr. and Mrs. America have undergone a significant change since 1912. Men of the same height are five pounds heavier, women five pounds lighter, than a generation ago.

There are now roughly twice as many fat men as there are fat women.

Why? Science may attribute this change to anything from hormones to heredity. But a poll I made of a number of husbands and wives themselves showed them in sharp disagreement.

Some husbands felt their excess weight merely proved naturally more intelligent than women.

"Intelligent people worry," said one, "and they often show this worry by eating too much. The reason fewer women get fat is that every year they are becoming less intelligent, and no longer have enough brains to worry. Anyway, life has become so easy for the average woman she doesn't have anything left to worry about except her weight."

Told of his remark, this man's wife replied:

"How silly can one human being get? The reason husbands are fat is the same as why most babies are fat. When they start complaining, the easiest way for a woman to get peace in the house is to stuff them food in them to keep them quiet."

Another wife observed:

"It isn't the food a man eats at home that gives him his chubby look."

"I give my husband two sensible, well-balanced meals a day. But what can you do when he insists on having a three-hour, three-martini, three-course luncheon every afternoon with his pals?"

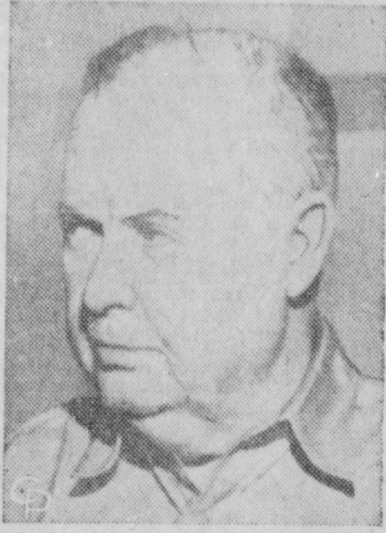

"They'll never take the fat off most American men until they make them start conducting their business in their offices instead of restaurants."

All those polled thought that exercise was probably a factor in the problem. But the agreement ended right there.

Some husbands thought their wives kept thin because they got too much exercise gadding about on shopping sprees and going from gin rummy parties to club meetings.

"When they get home at night they use up their remaining strength opening cans to cook dinner," said one grimly. "Then they are too worn out to eat. And

Sailors Forget To 'Square Hat'

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—After getting into a brawl with a quartet of teen-age hoodlums, two sailors were asked to appear on an Oklahoma City television newscast.

The show was watched by the commanding officer at the naval technical training center here. He didn't mind that the uniforms of John Vincent and Jack E. Davis were dirty and disheveled. That was to be expected after a fight.

The two sailors, however, had their hats on the back of their heads at a jaunty tilt on the show. That's strictly nonregulation. The pair was slapped with two weeks confinement to the base just to refresh their memory.

Hal Boyle Says:

Men Getting Fatter; Why?

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Public Health Service has found the body shapes of Mr. and Mrs. America have undergone a significant change since 1912. Men of the same height are five pounds heavier, women five pounds lighter, than a generation ago.

There are now roughly twice as many fat men as there are fat women.

Why? Science may attribute this change to anything from hormones to heredity. But a poll I made of a number of husbands and wives themselves showed them in sharp disagreement.

Some husbands felt their excess weight merely proved naturally more intelligent than women.

"Intelligent people worry," said one, "and they often show this worry by eating too much. The reason fewer women get fat is that every year they are becoming less intelligent, and no longer have enough brains to worry. Anyway, life has become so easy for the average woman she doesn't have anything left to worry about except her weight."

Told of his remark, this man's wife replied:

"How silly can one human being get? The reason husbands are fat is the same as why most babies are fat. When they start complaining, the easiest way for a woman to get peace in the house is to stuff some food in them to keep them quiet."

Another wife observed:

"It isn't the food a man eats at home that gives him his chubby look."

"I give my husband two sensible, well-balanced meals a day. But what can you do when he insists on having a three-hour, three-martini, three-course luncheon every afternoon with his pals?"

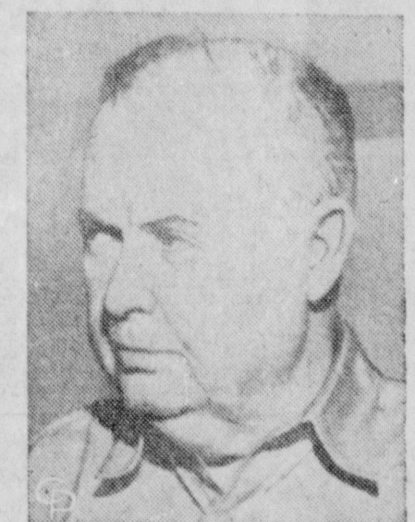

"They'll never take the fat off most American men until they make them start conducting their business in their offices instead of restaurants."

All those polled thought that exercise was probably a factor in the problem. But the agreement ended right there.

Some husbands thought their wives kept thin because they got too much exercise gadding about on shopping sprees and going from gin rummy parties to club meetings.

"When they get home at night they use up their remaining strength opening cans to cook dinner," said one grimly. "Then they are too worn out to eat. And

Forestry Group Names Officers

COLUMBUS (AP)—Trustees of the Ohio Forestry Assn. have elected as president Dr. K. Starr Chester of Columbus.

Cutaways Ordered

another thing, too. A lot of wives get so much pleasure telling a man what's wrong with him at breakfast and dinner, they don't like to interrupt themselves by taking time out even to put food in their mouths. Any normal woman would rather talk than eat."

When I asked him how he explained why women weighed more in 1912, he said:

"That's easy. In 1912 a man could still tell a woman to shut up. He doesn't have the courage to do that today unless he's willing to go to court afterward."

Here is a wife's rebuttal on that point:

"Men now have become too lazy to do anything except breathe and drive an automobile. Women have to do everything else for them."

"Who put the new wallpaper up in my house? Me! Who fixes the vacuum cleaner? Me! When we are watching television and my husband wants a can of beer from the refrigerator, who runs and gets it? Me! I even have to lend him a hand to help him out of the bed in the morning."

One middle-aged husband had the oddest explanation for the weight differences between the sexes.

"It's all because women wear girdles and men don't," he said flatly. "If every day a husband had to struggle in and out of a girdle two sizes too small for him, he'd do so much exercise he could eat a roasted ox for luncheon and never gain a pound. It's exercising her vanity that keeps a woman in shape."

Sailors Forget To 'Square Hat'

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—After getting into a brawl with a quartet of teen-age hoodlums, two sailors were asked to appear on an Oklahoma City television newscast.

The show was watched by the commanding officer at the naval technical training center here. He didn't mind that the uniforms of John Vincent and Jack E. Davis were dirty and disheveled. That was to be expected after a fight.

The two sailors, however, had their hats on the back of their heads at a jaunty tilt on the show. That's strictly nonregulation. The pair was slapped with two weeks confinement to the base just to refresh their memory.

U. S., Britain Guard Against New Inflation

'Gentle' Measures Being Put Into Force To Aid Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States and Britain are taking some gentle measures aimed at staving off another inflationary onslaught on the purchasing power of money.

Here the money managers fret lest stock speculation and easily financed home building get out of hand. In England they worry because wages and prices are climbing.

In preparing for this preventive war against a possible renewal of inflation, both are using as weapons the control of the supply of available credit and the raising of interest rates.

Pressure for higher prices is developing in the United States, too, on some commodities—such as copper, rubber, tin and fuel oil. Demands for higher wages are being readied for spring in several industries.

But Washington says these inflationary forces are weak as yet. It cites the fairly stable price level of commodities as a whole, and the fact that unemployment now totals either three or four million—depending on whose figures you credit, government's or labor unions'—as making unlikely at this time any real inflationary runaway, with another drain on what your dollar will buy at the store.

The British gently slapped the wrists of speculators by raising the interest rate which the Bank of England charges for lending its funds. Our Federal Reserve Board isn't expected to take any such step while the U. S. Treasury is in the midst of refunding some 15 billion dollars of the public debt.

In that operation, set for this week, the Treasury hopes to move perhaps two billion dollars into 40-year 3 per cent bonds. To the extent that these bonds should compete for the dollars investors might otherwise put into mortgages or stocks, the move could be classed as deflationary.

The money managers say, however, that the soaking up of this money will be merely an offset to the inflationary tendencies of the home building boom and stock speculation—and doesn't signal a trend to harder and costlier money. This view is challenged by some congressmen who charge that the 3 per cent interest rate, in exchange for 2 1/2 per cent bonds now maturing, means favoring the money lenders at the expense of home builders and business borrowers.

The measures which the U. S. money managers have taken so far are mostly passive. They contend they haven't pushed interest rates higher. It's just that they've stopped preventing an increase. The Federal Reserve avows a policy of seeing that there's plenty of credit available to keep business humming—but not of supplying any excess that could be turned to speculation.

Greater business activity spurs a demand for more loans, and interest rates have risen slightly.

The supply of funds for longer-term investment continues to creep up, however. There are around 27,000 private retirement pension plans, for example, and employers and employees pour millions of dollars into these each year.

These funds, and other forms of savings, furnish the money you tap when you apply for a mortgage. They are also the source corporations tap when they sell securities, that the federal, state

Groucho Marx A Paradox: Both A Cynic And Idealist

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When you talk to Groucho Marx, you get the picture of a paradox.

Here is one of the world's most famous cynics, yet he is also an idealist. He has made millions from getting people to laugh, and his conversation is sprinkled with ad lib gags. Yet he'll pause for a deadly serious comment and even quote a British philosopher who said: "It's better not to be born at all; but if you are born, you're lucky if you die early."

He is capable of earthy observations. Still, he talks with more than a casual acquaintance with intellectual matters. He commended NBC's "Living Masters" interviews with Robert Frost, Sir Bertrand Russell, Carl Sandburg (but complained because "such good shows are put on TV late at night or on Sunday afternoon"). He also mentioned that he was going to ask his friend Ed Murrow for a kinscope of his interview with J. Robert Oppenheimer.

These are the impressions you get from a lunch at Romanoff's with Groucho. You also get a variety of pithy comments on such matters as:

New comics—"A few years ago,

a bunch of old comics were sitting around the lunch table at the Hillcrest Country Club and moaning about the lack of new talent. They could have saved their crocodile tears. Give young people enough incentive, and they'll develop into stars.

"Look at the great new stars who have come along. George Gobel, whom I tagged as a comer when he appeared on 'This Is Show Business' four years ago. Donald O'Connor. Mitzl Gaynor. Herb Shriner. Sammy Davis. Wally Cox. Lots of others."

Color TV "In the long run, it won't mean a thing. The important thing is still not how it looks, but what is said. A dull show will still be dull in color."

Writing—"I'm very happy about the success of Fred Allen's book. I feel personally responsible. I kept after Red for years, urging him to write it. Me write? Nope. There's nothing I have to say that hasn't already been said far better by greater men than I."

"Besides, if I wrote a book, I'd have to think. That's the hardest work there is. I don't think for every 24 hours. Hardly anybody does these days. People will go to great extremes not to think. Like Jamaica."

He was referring to his forthcoming escape from thinking. He'll journey to Miami, Havana and Jamaica with his young bride. When he returns, he'll perform in one of NBC's spectaculars. He consented because of his admiration for Producer Max Liebman, but Groucho stipulated that the show would have to be done from this coast.

That's in keeping with his policy. The comic has had fabulous offers for TV guest appearances, movies and Las Vegas stints, but has turned nearly all of them down.

"I decided 10 years ago that I had worked hard enough all my life," he said. "From then on, I have done only what I enjoyed."

Party Line Yacker Blamed For Fire

RHINEBECK, N.Y. (AP) — A woman who reportedly refused to get off a party line in an emergency was arrested Saturday under a state law which went into effect only four months ago.

Mrs. Mary L. Kayes, 43, was charged with a misdemeanor for allegedly refusing to hang up and let fire warden Donald Townsend report a grass fire which subsequently destroyed a barn. She was released in $500 bail with no date set for trial.

Townsend said Mrs. Kayes chatted for 15 minutes despite his appeals for a priority.

First Accident Brings Out Bike

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — John Barr, 63, who drove an automobile 46 years before he ever had an accident, turned over his automobile license plates to Police Chief Joseph Blackmore and said:

"I've had enough. Things ain't what they used to be so I'm going back to my first love—a bicycle."

Barr's decision to quit driving came as the result of a collision Jan. 4. That cost him $75 and costs in fines on charges of careless driving and failure to have a driver's license. He said he decided to quit driving following the accident.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower follows President Truman in wanting the United Nations to settle the Formosa problem. Once again the U. N. tackles the case. The story begins to look like a rerun of an old picture.

And if the Red Chinese repeat themselves, as they have so far, they will demand a seat in the U. N. as the price of a Formosan cease-fire. This time their chances look better.

Truman was so fed up with the failures of Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalists that, when the Reds routed them to Formosa in late 1949, he said on Jan. 5, 1950, the United States would not — "at this time" — defend Formosa from the Reds.

The phrase "at this time" would let him intervene if the United States got involved in Asia later. It did on June 25, 1950, when the North Korean Reds invaded South Korea. Truman ordered the 7th Fleet to defend Formosa.

Truman said he did it to prevent spread of Asian fighting. It was not a permanent solution for Formosa. Truman said a solution would wait upon the restoration of peace or consideration by the U. N.

Chou En-lai, Red Chinese foreign minister, responded at once. He defied Truman, said the Reds would "liberate" Formosa. On Aug. 24 he sent a note to the U. N. charging the United States with aggression against Formosa.

The United States said it would welcome U. N. discussion. The world organization asked the Red Chinese to send a delegation to U. N. headquarters in New York. At first Chou rejected the offer, said Formosa was no concern of the U. N.

Soon he changed his mind, sent a delegation. It arrived in November 1950. By then, since it had jumped into the Korean War, Red China was in poor shape to convince anyone the United States was an aggressor in Formosa.

Russia, however, had backed up her Chinese ally by calling the United States an aggressor in Formosa. On Dec. 22, 1950, Chou laid down his terms for a cease-fire in Korea: a seat in the U. N. for Red China, plus withdrawal of American forces from Korea and Formosa.

Now the picture is being rerun. Two weeks ago Eisenhower suggested the U. N. try to work out a cease-fire in the Formosa area. Chou responded at once. Just as he had defied Truman, he defied Eisenhower, vowed to take Formosa, and said the Formosan problem was no business of the U. N.

Nevertheless, the U. N. Security Council arranged to discuss today a cease-fire around Formosa. And yesterday, just as it had before, Russia called the United States an aggressor against Formosa.

The Red Chinese haven't been invited to send a delegation to the U. N. yet but probably will be. After more talk of not wanting U. N. intervention, Chou no doubt will send a delegation. If he repeats himself, he will demand a U. N. seat as the price of a cease-fire.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — At a meeting of the Springfield Board of Education, E. J. Carmony asked, "What in the world are poker chips used for in the schools?"

He commended NBC's "Living Masters" interviews with Robert Frost, Sir Bertrand Russell, Carl Sandburg (but complained because "such good shows are put on TV late at night or on Sunday afternoon"). He also mentioned that he was going to ask his friend Ed Murrow for a kinescope of his interview with J. Robert Oppenheimer.

These are the impressions you get from a lunch at Romanoff's with Groucho. You also get a variety of pithy comments on such matters as:

New comics—"A few years ago,

a bunch of old comics were sitting around the lunch table at the Hillcrest Country Club and moaning about the lack of new talent. They could have saved their crocodile tears. Give young people enough incentive, and they'll develop into stars.

"Look at the great new stars who have come along. George Gobel, whom I tagged as a comer when he appeared on 'This Is Show Business' four years ago. Donald O'Connor. Mitzl Gaynor. Herb Shriner. Sammy Davis. Wally Cox. Lots of others."

Color TV "In the long run, it won't mean a thing. The important thing is still how it looks, but what is said. A dull show will still be dull in color."

Writing—"I'm very happy about the success of Fred Allen's book. I feel personally responsible. I kept after Red for years, urging him to write it. Me write? Nope. There's nothing I have to say that hasn't already been said far better by greater men than I."

"Besides, if I wrote a book, I'd have to think. That's the hardest work there is. I don't think for every 24 hours. Hardly anybody does these days. People will go to great extremes not to think. Like Jamaica."

He was referring to his forthcoming escape from thinking. He'll journey to Miami, Havana and Jamaica with his young bride. When he returns, he'll perform in one of NBC's spectaculars. He consented because of his admiration for Producer Max Liebman, but Groucho stipulated that the show would have to be done from this coast.

That's in keeping with his policy. The comic has had fabulous offers for TV guest appearances, movies and Las Vegas stints, but has turned nearly all of them down.

"I decided 10 years ago that I had worked hard enough all my life," he said. "From then on, I have done only what I enjoyed."

Party Line Yacker Blamed For Fire

RHINEBECK, N.Y. (AP)—A woman who reportedly refused to get off a party line in an emergency was arrested Saturday under a state law which went into effect only four months ago.

Mrs. Mary L. Kayes, 43, was charged with a misdemeanor for allegedly refusing to hang up and let fire warden Donald Townsend report a grass fire which subsequently destroyed a barn. She was released in $500 bail with no date set for trial.

Townsend said Mrs. Kayes chatted for 15 minutes despite his appeals for a priority.

First Accident Brings Out Bike

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — John Barr, 63, who drove an automobile 46 years before he ever had an accident, turned over his automobile license plates to Police Chief Joseph Blackmore and said:

"I've had enough. Things ain't what they used to be so I'm going back to my first love—a bicycle."

Barr's decision to quit driving came as the result of a collision Jan. 4. That cost him $75 and costs every 24 hours. Hardly anybody does these days. People will go to great extremes not to think. Like Jamaica."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower follows President Truman in wanting the United Nations to settle the Formosa problem. Once again the U. N. tackles the case. The story begins to look like a rerun of an old picture.

And if the Red Chinese repeat themselves, as they have so far, they will demand a seat in the U. N. as the price of a Formosan cease-fire. This time their chances look better.

Truman was so fed up with the failures of Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalists that, when the Reds routed them to Formosa in late 1949, he said on Jan. 5, 1950, the United States would not — "at this time" — defend Formosa from the Reds.

The phrase "at this time" would let him intervene if the United States got involved in Asia later. It did on June 25, 1950, when the North Korean Reds invaded South Korea. Truman ordered the 7th Fleet to defend Formosa.

Truman said he did it to prevent spread of Asian fighting. It was not a permanent solution for Formosa. Truman said a solution would wait upon the restoration of peace or consideration by the U. N.

Chou En-lai, Red Chinese foreign minister, responded at once. He defied Truman, said the Reds would "liberate" Formosa. On Aug. 24 he sent a note to the U. N. charging the United States with aggression against Formosa.

The United States said it would welcome U. N. discussion. The world organization asked the Red Chinese to send a delegation to U. N. headquarters in New York. At first Chou rejected the offer, said Formosa was no concern of the U. N.

Soon he changed his mind, sent a delegation. It arrived in November 1950. By then, since it had jumped into the Korean War, Red China was in poor shape to convince anyone the United States was an aggressor in Formosa.

Russia, however, had backed up her Chinese ally by calling the United States an aggressor in Formosa. On Dec. 22, 1950, Chou laid down his terms for a cease-fire in Korea: a seat in the U. N. for Red China, plus withdrawal of

No Double Shot During This Stop

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — James Kellock, vice president of a Chicago picture products company, is a man with friends who want him to have a good time on his vacation by train to California.

At every stop since Chicago, there has been delivered aboard the train (1) a banana split for Mrs. Kellock and (2) a double scotch for Mr. Kellock, ordered by wire by Edward C. Jewell, of Chicago.

On their Sunday stop here, the Kellocks both got banana splits. Sunday is dry in New Mexico.

Elephant Honored

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A 13-year-old elephant named Udaigiri, meaning Mountain of the Rising East, has been selected to lead all state processions here.

American forces from Korea and Formosa.

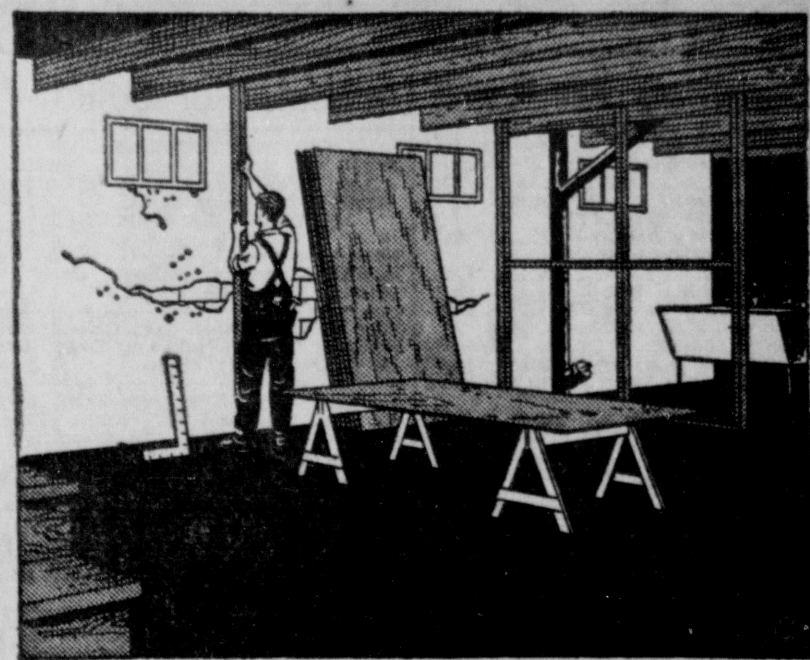

Now the picture is being rerun. Two weeks ago Eisenhower suggested the U. N. try to work out a cease-fire in the Formosa area. Chou responded at once. Just as he had defied Truman, he defied Eisenhower, vowed to take Formosa, and said the Formosan problem was no business of the U. N.

Nevertheless, the U. N. Security Council arranged to discuss today a cease-fire around Formosa. And yesterday, just as it had before, Russia called the United States an aggressor against Formosa.

The Red Chinese haven't been invited to send a delegation to the U. N. yet but probably will. After more talk of not wanting U. N. intervention, Chou no doubt will send a delegation. If he repeats himself, he will demand a U. N. seat as the price of a cease-fire.

Mannikans Disrobed

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Robbers disrobed mannikins of $20,995 in mink furs in a boardwalk shop window last night as subfreezing weather kept Sunday strollers away from the oceanfront. The robbery took place at Koff Furs, Inc.

West Coast Major League Idea Folds Up

NEW YORK (AP)—What once promised to develop into a bitter, down-to-the-wire fight between the major leagues for the West Coast territory has evaporated.

Both the American and National leagues seem determined the other will make the first move.

"Expansion would seem to be two or three years away from what we have learned so far," said Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox, chairman of a four-man group which has been exploring the subject.

This was more definite than the National League statement, which only Saturday ruled out any expansion for the present. The American League group finished its business yesterday, and Lane, acting as spokesman, said the league had an "open mind."

"We're not saying we won't expand," he explained, "because we can't speak for the league's owners. We're just a committee trying to find out whether expansion is feasible. Our report will go to Will Harridge (league president) and he in turn will bring the matter up before the club owners."

Lane said that at least "six or seven" cities had made overtures with four showing distinct possibilities. It's a safe guess that San Francisco and Los Angeles were among those discussed.

Darby Repeats As Winner Of Jr. High Title

Defending champion Darby kept its Junior High School basketball title intact by defeating Ashville 39 to 29 Saturday night at Jackson Township School.

A capacity crowd thrilled also to the consolation game which was won by Scioto 40 to 37 over Pickaway. Both winning teams led all the way.

John McPherson, tournament manager, and George McDowell, county school superintendent, presented trophies to Darby, Ashville and Scioto. Pickaway received their game basketball as the fourth place award.

Billy Hallenback, of Ashville, received a trophy for winning the foul shooting contest earlier in the week.

IT WOULD BE UNFAIR to single out any one outstanding player on any of the teams. All the games were well played and the winners deserved their victories. A few moistened eyes were detected Saturday night but the losers have nothing to be ashamed of because they put up such a fine battle.

West Coast Major League Idea Folds Up

NEW YORK (AP)—What once promised to develop into a bitter, down-to-the-wire fight between the major leagues for the West Coast territory has evaporated.

Both the American and National leagues seem determined the other will make the first move.

"Expansion would seem to be two or three years away from what we have learned so far," said Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox, chairman of a four-man group which has been exploring the subject.

This was more definite than the National League statement, which only Saturday ruled out any expansion for the present. The American League group finished its business yesterday, and Lane, acting as spokesman, said the league had an "open mind."

"We're not saying we won't expand," he explained, "because we can't speak for the league's owners. We're just a committee trying to find out whether expansion is feasible. Our report will go to Will Harridge (league president) and he in turn will bring the matter up before the club owners."

Lane said that at least "six or seven" cities had made overtures with four showing distinct possibilities. It's a safe guess that San Francisco and Los Angeles were among those discussed.

Darby Repeats As Winner Of Jr. High Title

Defending champion Darby kept its Junior High School basketball title intact by defeating Ashville 39 to 29 Saturday night at Jackson Township School.

A capacity crowd thrilled also to the consolation game which was won by Scioto 40 to 37 over Pickaway. Both winning teams led all the way.

John McPherson, tournament manager, and George McDowell, county school superintendent, presented trophies to Darby, Ashville and Scioto. Pickaway received their game basketball as the fourth place award.

Billy Hallenback, of Ashville, received a trophy for winning the foul shooting contest earlier in the week.

IT WOULD BE UNFAIR to single out any one outstanding player on any of the teams. All the games were well played and the winners deserved their victories. A few moistened eyes were detected Saturday night but the losers have nothing to be ashamed of because they put up such a fine battle.

City Water Department In Good Shape Despite $2,000 Loss

Report Shows Growth Of City Biggest Factor

Several Proposals Depend On Results Of Engineer Study

(Second of a series of two)

Although the Circleville water department operated at a $2,000 loss for 1954, the department has a balance in excess of $30,000.

One of the greatest expenses occurred, however, when capital expenses for 1954 totalled nearly $31,000; in 1953, the total was nearly $8,350. But this was due to the fact that water main extensions last year cost more than $18,750; in 1953, slightly under $1,100.

Ervin Leist, public utilities manager, terms this a good indication of the growth of the city. He also noted in his annual report, from which all these figures are taken, that new equipment cost nearly $3,000 in 1954; the year before that, only little less than $750 was spent.

The city water department is also making good headway in paying off its bonded debt. In 1954, $14,000 in bonds were retired and another $10,500 paid in interest in outstanding bonds.

ORIGINALY, $550,000 in bonds were issued. So far, $93,000 of this has been paid off; the balance is now $457,000. Interest is paid only on the unpaid balance of outstanding bonds.

Water main extensions for the city, mainly in the newly annexed northend sector, totalled 4,353 lineal feet. Private extensions added another 7,719 lineal feet.

Since July 10, 1946, the city water department has added 799 new accounts. There were 143 new ones in 1954 alone.

City council last year appropriated nearly $90,500; the water department spent nearly $89,600. In 1953, the appropriation was approximately $76,000; approximately $64,000 was spent.

A vast repainting job was completed last year. The buildings at the water works pumping station and all metal roofs received a paint job. Total cost was $710.60.

ONE OF THE LARGEST items in equipment was the installation of an accounting machine. Leist said that the expenditure of $2,835.21 for the machine was made necessary by the increased load in office work. The only other alternative would have been to hire additional office personnel, he added.

Perhaps one of the top problems in the water department concerns the "red water" situation. This, Leist commented, has forced the department to consider methods for iron removal and softening of the entire water supply.

However, Leist hastened to add, this development will require a financing program with a possible increase in rates.

A meeting has been scheduled for Feb. 8 to consider this and other related problems. Another re-

Columnist Learns It Unwise To Irritate Tired Housewife

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

I have just learned that it is not wise to irritate a tired housewife.

Being a housewife myself, I can understand that a lot of over-worked wives thought it was all too much when a household efficiency expert recently stated that working wives are more efficient than stay-at-homes. But I didn't expect the flood of angry mail that came in.

Here is a typical example, from a Detroit housewife:

"My dear Mrs. Fish Eggs:

"You must have flipped your lid to write such a stupid column. As for Miss Nitwit, what does she know about housework when she's a complete miss. (Editor's note: The efficiency expert quoted was Madge Lewyt, of New York, who is not a miss but a Mrs., and makes a career of household surveys and housekeeping shortcuts.)

"I don't have to ask my husband to help with the household chores because he has brains enough and loves me enough to help without being nagged at . . .

"What about the children? Does the miss or you have three healthy children to look after? Wash to do every day? Ironing as well? Nourishing meals to prepare? Or do you live on coffee and cigarettes?

" . . . I slave all day and get no pay—then an ignorant dame like you has to make things worse."

Another writes from Galetton, Pa.:

"How many working women do all the little things that a housekeeper does? They send most, if not all their laundry out. They have no one at home all day to clutter up their house. Why would it be dirty? Do they sew? Do they bake bread, cookies, pies? No, they stop at the corner store, buy their meals frozen and pop them into the oven when they get home."

That gives you a general idea. And I didn't mean to belittle the American housewife. I think she's wonderful whether she works in an office or at home, or both.

Many of us have to do both, like me. And since we don't have much time at home, we develop every possible shortcut to get things done in the least possible time.

I, for instance, find it possible to take care of a good-sized house in the country, travel 100 miles to and from work every day, do all the cooking and sit on the problems of two daughters without too much strain.

I think we do what we have to do—and often that's the fun of it.

ITCH Scabies is highly contagious and will continue for life if not stopped. Its sole cause is the itch-mite which is immune to ordinary treatment. EXSORA kills the itch-mite almost instantly. Only three days EXSORA treatment is required. At all Drug Stores.

THE DEATH of test pilot James B. Verdin, 36, remains a mystery after his body is found with an unopened parachute 20 miles east of Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., in the Mojave desert. He was on a test flight in an A4D Skyhawk, bantam bomber capable of carrying the atom bomb, and apparently plummeted 35,000 feet to his death. Shown are his three children (from left) Pat, 3, Vickie, 2 months, and Cindy, 2. (International Soundphoto)

Bat Given Home In Gypsum Mine

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Abraham Backer found a bat in his living room yesterday. He didn't want to kill it and it was too cold to shoot it out a window.

So he called the Grand Rapids Public Museum. Museum officials suggested a cave.

Now the closest thing to a cave in the Grand Rapids area of western Michigan is a gypsum mine. Backer telephoned the office of a gypsum mine company and found a night watchman willing to let him free his bat in a mine.

"The poor bat would have frozen to death if we had turned it outdoors in this weather," Backer explained to the night watchman. "Never mind. We've got all kinds of bats down there," the watchman said as Backer released the bat.

Since July 10, 1946, the city water department has added 799 new accounts. There were 143 new ones in 1954 alone.

City council last year appropriated nearly $90,500; the water department spent nearly $89,600. In 1953, the appropriation was approximately $76,000; approximately $64,000 was spent.

A vast repainting job was completed last year. The buildings at the water works pumping station and all metal roofs received a paint job. Total cost was $710.60.

ONE OF THE LARGEST items in equipment was the installation of an accounting machine. Leist said that the expenditure of $2,835.21 for the machine was made necessary by the increased load in office work. The only other alternative would have been to hire additional office personnel, he added.

Perhaps one of the top problems in the water department concerns the "red water" situation. This, Leist commented, has forced the department to consider methods for iron removal and softening of the entire water supply.

However, Leist hastened to add, this development will require a financing program with a possible increase in rates.

A meeting has been scheduled for Feb. 8 to consider this and other related problems. Another re-

Columnist Learns It Unwise To Irritate Tired Housewife

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

I have just learned that it is not wise to irritate a tired housewife.

Being a housewife myself, I can understand that a lot of over-worked wives thought it was all too much when a household efficiency expert recently stated that working wives are more efficient than stay-at-homes. But I didn't expect the flood of angry mail that came in.

Here is a typical example, from a Detroit housewife:

"My dear Mrs. Fish Eggs: 'You must have flipped your lid to write such a stupid column. As for Miss Nitwit, what does she know about housework when she's a complete miss. (Editor's note: The efficiency expert quoted was Madge Lewyt, of New York, who is not a miss but a Mrs., and makes a career of household surveys and housekeeping shortcuts.)

"I don't have to ask my husband to help with the household chores because he has brains enough and loves me enough to help without being nagged at . . . 'What about the children? Does the miss or you have three healthy children to look after? Wash to do every day? Ironing as well? Nourishing meals to prepare? Or do you live on coffee and cigarettes?

" . . . I slave all day and get no pay—then an ignorant dame like you has to make things worse."

Another writes from Galetton, Pa.:

"How many working women do all the little things that a housekeeper does? They send most, if not all their laundry out. They have no one at home all day to clutter up their house. Why would it be dirty? Do they sew? Do they bake bread, cookies, pies? No, they stop at the corner store, buy their meals frozen and pop them into the oven when they get home."

That gives you a general idea. And I didn't mean to belittle the American housewife. I think she's wonderful whether she works in an office or at home, or both.

Many of us have to do both, like me. And since we don't have much time at home, we develop every possible shortcut to get things done in the least possible time.

I, for instance, find it possible to take care of a good-sized house in the country, travel 100 miles to and from work every day, do all the cooking and sit on the problems of two daughters without too much strain.

I think we do what we have to do—and often that's the fun of it.

THE DEATH of test pilot James B. Verdin, 36, remains a mystery after his body is found with an unopened parachute 20 miles east of Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., in the Mojave desert. He was on a test flight in an A4D Skyhawk, bantam bomber capable of carrying the atom bomb, and apparently plummeted 35,000 feet to his death. Shown are his three children (from left) Pat, 3, Vickie, 2 months, and Cindy, 2. (International Soundphoto)

Bat Given Home In Gypsum Mine

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Abraham Backer found a bat in his living room yesterday. He didn't want to kill it and it was too cold to shoot it out a window.

So he called the Grand Rapids Public Museum. Museum officials suggested a cave.

Now the closest thing to a cave in the Grand Rapids area of western Michigan is a gypsum mine. Backer telephoned the office of a gypsum mine company and found a night watchman willing to let him free his bat in a mine.

"The poor bat would have frozen to death if we had turned it outdoors in this weather," Backer explained to the night watchman. "Never mind. We've got all kinds of bats down there," the watchman said as Backer released the bat.

Firemen Forget About Rail Tracks

MONTVILLE, Conn. (AP)—Firemen had a fire in a five-room house pretty well under control yesterday until a Central Vermont Railroad freight train passed.

When the freight came by, the water stopped pouring from the hose. The firemen looked back and discovered they had laid the hose across the railroad tracks.

Damage to the house was estimated at $10,000.
